Ysgol Comins Coch An Accessibility Plan for Pupils with Disabilities

This school is not designated a priority school in Local Authority's Accessibility Strategy. We are required, however, to plan to reduce obstacles to access for children with disabilities, so as to provide the best opportunity for children whose parents have expressed a desire for them to be admitted to the school to be able to come here.

Following an audit of the situation, the school has identified the matters noted in the attached plan for increased access as matters that can be reasonably dealt with, and we will be aiming to complete the tasks noted within the agreed timetable. The audit focused on the three areas noted in the Assembly guidelines, i.e.:

- Increase the extent to which disabled pupils can participate in the school curriculum.
- Improve the school's physical environment.
- Improve the delivery to disabled pupils of written information that is provided to pupils who are not disabled.

The audit was carried out by using the framework contained in the Assembly guidelines, i.e. "Planning to Increase Access to Schools for Disabled Pupils".

If the Education Authority was to allow access to the school for a pupil with disabilities, the school would, in collaboration with the Authority, assess the child's requirements and amend the action plan in accordance with the outcomes of that assessment.

Ysgol Comins Coch – Plan to Increase Access

This plan was drawn up after:

- 1) conducting an audit of the school's site in relation to access;
- 2) considering general methods of improving access, taking into account the fact that this school is not currently a designated school in relation to the County's Accessibility Strategy;
- 3) taking into account the needs of any children with disabilities who attend the school.

The school will monitor the implementation of the plan and will keep the school's access requirements under review.
